"ALL MEN ARE BORN FREE AND EQUAL."

THE Committee of the Fugitive Slave Mission once more lay before their friends their Annual Report, in the hope that the account of the work given in it, though it may contain nothing specially new or startling, may be the means of confirming their old friends in their attachment to the cause, and of showing to some who may not yet have turned their attention to it that it is one which needs now more than ever fresh sympathy and support.

They begin with the subject of Finances.

The Income for the past year has been	.	£615 12 0
The Expenditure		550 12 4

Comparing this with the statement of last year, it appears that there has been a falling off in the income to the amount of £129 2*s.* 5*d.* This was doubtless to be expected, owing to the changes which have taken place, and to the loss of some who took so much interest in the work; and they feel that, all things considered, their present position affords much cause for thankfulness.

But it will be seen that the fact that they closed the year with a balance in hand is due, not to the sufficiency of their income, but to this—that some of their stations have been vacant through the year. There is every reason to believe that this will now soon cease to be the case, and that their resources will be taxed to the utmost. They desire earnestly, therefore, to plead the cause of this Mission, and remind their friends that old engagements have to be met and new ones made. Their faithful labourers must be supported, and new ones be encouraged to engage in the work. They ask for an increased amount of help, that the Fugitive Slave Mission may not languish.

They are aware that an opinion prevails to some extent that the work now is not needed. The Fugitive Slave Law is repealed. In the strict sense, Fugitive Slaves from America to Canada are a thing of the past. What want is there of a Mission to them?

That it is so might perhaps be a reason for changing the name of the Mission; it cannot be a reason for giving it up. True the Fugitive Slaves are not obliged to come to Canada in order to escape from bondage. There may no longer be the same romantic circumstances attending their arrival, or giving interest to their histories. But the stern fact remains. There, in Canada, still are found the settlements of these coloured people. Their numbers are as large as heretofore. Their necessities are as great. They still need to be ministered to; their children still need to be taught. They must not be neglected nor passed by. They are not able to do more than they were to help themselves. Not a reason can be given for the work in past times which does not apply now.

The letters from the various agents will present the operations of the Mission fairly before the readers of this Report. Nothing is concealed or kept back. The Committee do not bring the work before their friends as one which is all bright and promising. On the contrary, it is important to bear in mind that it is hindered by difficulties and discouragements of no ordinary character. The old habits engendered in a state of bondage; the remembrance of the contempt in which they have been held, —in which, alas, they are too often held even now,—these things have diminished self-respect and self-reliance—have encouraged listlessness and apathy as to the highest good, both temporal and spiritual, of themselves and their children. With these difficulties the Missionaries have to contend, as well as with those which arise from the peculiar religious sympathies of the coloured people, and from the unchristian spirit which separates race from race. What wonder then if at times they write despondingly, and feel as if they were toiling almost without result?

But does not all this show how such labours are needed? how these scattered sheep need to have a shepherd among them? Our agents are, it will be seen, cheered by signs that their labours are not in vain in the Lord. The Gospel of Jesus, received with joy by white and black alike, and producing in both the same blessed fruits, bears still its powerful witness to the truth which men so soon ignore or forget—that God hath made of one blood all the nations of the earth. And He it is who hath determined the bounds of their habitation. His providence has placed these strangers in the midst of our colonies,—has made them our fellow-subjects: and so, alike by discouragement and encouragement, He calls on us to persevere in this labour of love. A blessing the Committee feel must assuredly rest on work carried on in that spirit of faith and love in which they rejoice to know their agents labour. They ask all their friends to support them with their prayers, that that blessing may be more abundantly vouchsafed.

The Committee desire to thank very heartily the collectors and others who have continued their services, and helped them so during the past year. They are assured that they may still reckon on their zeal and active labours.

They cannot conclude without mentioning a serious loss which the Mission has sustained. Last year they had to record the departure of Mrs. Thomas, who, as their indefatigable Secretary, had done so much for them. They have this year to express their heartfelt sympathy with one who was her colleague, in a sad bereavement which she has suffered. This will, they fear, cause her removal from the sphere in which she has rendered them such willing service in past years. That, wherever she is, she will continue to feel the deepest interest in the cause for which she has worked so heartily, they are well assured.

I. Diocese of Huron.

The Committee are thankful to be able to place before their friends the following letter from the Bishop of Huron, in which he bears fresh testimony to the zeal and faithfulness of the Missionaries. In the latter part of the letter the Bishop refers to a subject to which the attention of the Committee has been much directed during the past year: the possibility of strengthening by the assistance of Lay Agents, the hands of those whose unaided efforts are insufficient to carry on the work as they would wish in their extensive districts. The Committee have felt obliged at present to refrain from promising help. Glad would they be if a prospect of increased support at home encouraged them to thus enlarge their sphere of operation.

"The Missionaries to the Fugitive Slaves continue to labour faithfully as ever amongst this people. Mr. Hughes, at Dresden, is cheered by evidences of a blessing upon his work. He is now engaged in erecting a church, which I hope he may be able to finish this year. He also extends his labours to the white population of the neighbourhood, amongst whom he has had much success. His Reports are deeply interesting.

"Mr. Hurst is placed in a most important position, which, I am thankful to say, he fills to the entire satisfaction of his numerous congregations. His church at Windsor is now too small, and he is desirous to enlarge it; and his labours are so great that he stands in much need of an assistant. There is great difficulty in this country of obtaining lay agents fit to act as Catechists. Whenever, by God's blessing upon the Word, the heart of a young man is turned to the Saviour, he naturally looks to the ministry, and his great object is to fit himself for it. The only way in which lay agency can be obtained here is by employing young men thus circumstanced for a time, whilethey prepare themselves for the ministry. This is done extensively in the States, where young men are employed during vacations in their colleges in the work of Catechists, Scripture-readers, and sellers of religious books. In this way the Lord's work is done, and young and faithful men are assisted in their laudable efforts to qualify themselves for the ministry. Huron College would at the present time furuish several young men thus circumstanced, and I am deeply thankful to be able to say that the students of that institution are young men who have given evidence that they are taught of God, and that it is their earnest desire to spend and be spent in His service."

LONDON.—Mr. Tearn is no longer an agent of the Society, and an arrangement has been made by the Corresponding Committee by which it is hoped the duties of Catechist among the Fugitive Coloured people will be efficiently discharged under the careful superintendence of Archdeacon Hellmuth, as Principal of Huron College. Two students of the College have been selected by the Bishop to visit the homes of the Fugitives; to read and pray with them, and to speak the word in season. They have just entered on their work. It is too soon yet to speak of results, but the Committee look hopefully forward to this new agency as one which, with God's blessing, will conduce to the increased efficiency of their Mission in this important place.

DRESDEN.—Rev. T. Hughes's letter will, as usual, be found to give an interesting account of the difficulties and encouragements he meets with in his work. He still has to plead, it will be seen, for the church at Dresden, the building of which has so long been the object of his desire. The Committee once more commend his earnest appeal to the attention of their friends.

"Oct. 1.—In again forwarding a Report of the state of this Mission it is with heartfelt gratitude that I have to record that my three Sunday services (two coloured and one white), and my Wednesday evening service (coloured), continue to be well attended. The Committee will be also rejoiced to hear that my labours among the white settlers of the small village of Dawn Mills have been so far blessed as to cause them to feel their need of building a house wherein to worship God. Some of the leading members of this congregation have been strenuously exerting themselves during the past few months in raising funds for this purpose. They have already more than eight hundred dollars subscribed, have commenced making the brick, and, I have no doubt, as all the hauling of the materials and other things that will save expense will be done among themselves, that in the course of next summer a neat little edifice will be erected. I have in my previous communications spoken of the low moral and religious tone which too generally prevails among the white settlers in this neighbourhood; but the readiness most of them have shown to contribute towards this work, and the marks of seriousness recently manifested by several of the younger members of the congregation, have encouraged me to hope that there is at least a 'shaking among the dry bones.' Oh that the Lord would pour out His Spirit upon these people, so that not only a material building may be erected, but that many living stones may be added to that spiritual temple of which Jesus is the chief corner-stone. While speaking of the prospect of the erection of a church at Dawn Mills, I cannot refrain from again pleading for funds to build one for the accommodation of my poor coloured congregation at Dresden. I cannot add anything to the appeals I have already made, but most earnestly do I pray that, through God's blessing, they may prove successful. It is impossible, even for those who take the deepest interest in this Mission at home, fully to comprehend what a disheartening and difficult work this is, and how hard it is to obtain anything like a permanent hold upon coloured people. God has condescended in some degree to bless your Missionary's efforts in this place. A small congregation has been gathered, and the want of a humble church now blocks the way of further progress. Oh will not British Christians, upon whom a gracious God has showered such abundant blessings, both spiritual and temporal, supply this want!"

LOSS OF A FRIEND.

"Death has again made an inroad into my little flock. This time he has smitten down with awful suddenness a most attached member of my congregation and a communicant. Mrs. H—— retired to rest, on the night previous to her death, apparently in her usual state of health. In the morning when she awoke she complained of a violent pain in the head; the symptoms soon became alarming; a medical man was sent for, but human aid was of no avail, the messenger of death rapidly executed his commission, for she expired after about three hours' intense suffering. In the removal of Mrs. H—— the Mission here has sustained a heavy loss, and I and my family have lost a valued friend. Her husband being churchwarden, she used to see that proper provision was made for the due performance of the service and the celebration of the Lord's Supper—duties in which she took the greatest delight. She was a person of superior mind, had had much experience in the world, was looked up to by all the coloured people in this settlement, and much respected by the white inhabitants. Above all, she was, I believe, a true disciple of Christ, and one whom, though she belonged to a people despised and cruelly treated in this world, He will not be ashamed to own at the day of His appearing before an assembled universe. I preached her funeral sermon from the words, 'As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more.' (Ps. ciii. 15, 16.) The Coloured Baptist Church was kindly placed at our disposal, as our own little room would not have accommodated more than a fraction of the people that assembled on the melancholy occasion."

DIFFICULTIES IN THE WAY OF EDUCATION.—IMPORTANCE OF THE MISSION SCHOOL.

"As I intimated in my last letter the attendance of children at the school has not been so great since a small fee has been required to be paid to meet the contingent expenses of rent, firing, &c. The fugitives will not contribute anything, even towards providing an education for their children, although it is a matter about which they profess to be so anxious. This is, perhaps, the worst feature in their character. It is true they are able to do but little, but that little they cannot be got to do. The mass of them are very poor, but then the truth must be told; their poverty is vastly increased, if not mainly owing to their own improvidence. Throughout the whole of this locality, thickly settled as it is for miles around with a coloured population, and containing at least from two to three hundred children who ought to be at school, our Mission School is at the present time the only one open. All the coloured common schools have been closed for some time past. The determination of the vast majority of the coloured people appears to be that if they cannot send their children to the white common schools, they would prefer being without schools altogether rather than establish separate schools in accordance with the provisions of the Common School Act. And as there is not the slightest probability of the white schools being opened to them in this section of Canada, a very large proportion of the coloured children are likely to grow up without any education at all. There is constant litigation going on with regard to the right of coloured persons to send their children to the ordinary common schools, and conflicting legal opinions have been obtained; but the only results so far have been embittered feelings and deepened prejudices. This is a state of things greatly to be deplored; but there does not appear to be any help for it unless the coloured people should give way and consent to establish separate schools."

EFFECTS OF THE WAR.

"Since the breaking out of the terrible war between the Northern and Southern States, and which is still raging with unabated fury and tenfold increased animosity and hatred, but few fugitives from slavery have found their way to Canada. The able-bodied 'contrabands' go to swell the ranks of the coloured regiments, and their strong arms are at once turned against their former masters and oppressors; and the Federal Government has found it necessary to make some temporal provision for the large and increasing number of slaves which are not available for such a purpose that the fortunes of war are continually placing in their hands. But while the fugitive from bondage no longer finds it necessary to seek Canada as an asylum, the coloured population of the province has received considerable accession during the past few months owing to the riots that have disgraced Detroit, New York, and other places in the Northern States. It is a fallacy to suppose that the President's proclamation of freedom and the employment of negro troops are any indications of an improved state of feeling in the Free States with regard to the coloured people. These are professedly war measures, and nothing more. So far as I am able to judge from what I see around me, prejudice seems to be on the increase rather than otherwise. It would appear that slavery is doomed; but whether a brighter day is dawning for the African race on this Continent it is impossible to foresee.

"The future rests with Him who can bring good out of evil, and make even the wrath of man to praise Him. One thing, however, is clear, there never was a time when these down-trodden people stood more in need of the sympathies, the prayers, and the active exertions of their friends than the present."

FELLOW-HELPERS NEAR AND FAR.

"One of my communicants, a truly pious young man, frequently amuses himself in writing snatches of poetry. I enclose you one or two specimens in his own handwriting, and just as he has brought them to me. With the sentiments expressed I am sure you will be gratified. He possesses a fine ear for music, is the leader of our choir, and I have engaged him to give my own children lessons in singing. What he knows he has taught himself, as he never had any advantages of education. Mr. H—— is a man in whose sterling character and genuine piety I have the greatest confidence; indeed, I cannot speak of him too highly. He has a great thirst for knowledge, especially religious knowledge; and has commenced, under my direction, a regular course of Biblical reading.

"I suppose the Bishop of Goulburn and Mrs. Thomas are now on their way to their distant and important sphere of labour. I shall miss Mrs. Thomas's kind Christian letters much. They always cheered me. Oh, may God's rich blessing rest upon them both, and make them efficient instruments in His hands in building up the Church of the Redeemer in a far off colouy!

"The boxes of clothing arrived safely; and to those kind and considerate friends who have contributed the numerous useful articles which they contained I return my most grateful thanks. For the little books for presents for the school children, and the hymn-books and tracts, I am especially thankful. The Penny Hymn Books were just the thing I wanted for the use of the people who attend my Sunday evening service on the 11th in Chatham Township."

A LATER REPORT.

"March 21.—Since I last wrote, so far as my coloured oougregation at Dresden is concerned, nothiug has occurred that needs particular mention. The consistent walk, the truly Christian deportment, of my communicants in the midst of much to try and harass them, is the bright ray of heavenly sunshine that cheers my path of trying duty. Perhaps, during the past wiuter, the attendance has not been quite so good as usual; but this has been owing to the very unfavourable state of the weather we have had. With scarcely any snow, and bad roads all the winter through, those members of the congregation living at a distance have not been so regular as otherwise they would have been. The Sunday evening service in the 'back settlement' continues also to be well attended,—that is, when nothing exciting is going on elsewhere. I conduct the service here in a very simple manner, and endeavour to set the precious truths of the Gospel before these neglected people, who are nearly all fugitives, in the plainest possible terms. They are very attentive; and, though nature has clothed these poor outcasts with dark skins, and ignorauce has thrown a still gloomier mantle over their minds, we believe there are some amongst them, in spite of every disadvantage, whom the Almighty Spirit has enlightened with the beams of His truth, and enabled them to lay hold by faith on the Saviour, and to enjoy the hopes and consolations of the Gospel. I have often wished that some of our friends at home could be present at one of these meetings. They would see at a glance, I think, what a vast deal has yet to be done before even the emancipated negro will be able to break through those formidable barriers that stand in the way of their social advancement. The room still remains in the same wretched and dilapidated couditiou in which I formerly described it. I have frequently eudeavoured to stir them up to repair it, telling them what a reflection it is to them; but, while they readily enough admit this, there does not appear to be sufficient union and public spirit amongst them to do the work."

DAWN MILLS CHURCH.

"I mentioned in one of my former reports that the congregation at the white settlement of Dawn Mills were striviug to raise the means to build a small church. You will be pleased to hear that there is now every probability of their succeeding. They have subscribed among themselves between 700 and 800 dollars, to be paid in two ~~quarterly~~ yearly instalments, and have further engaged to do all the team work necessary to place the building materials on the ground. The zeal with which the people at this settlement have entered upon this work has greatly encouraged me. I regard it as an evidence that the ministrations of the Gospel among them have not been altogether in vain. Oh that not only a material building may be erected, but that many lively stones may be added, through your unworthy missionary's instrumentality, to Christ's spiritual temple! I pray that God's blessing may rest more and more upon the Society in all its varied and important fields of operation, and that the number of its friends and supporters may be increased, so that the sphere of its usefulness may be still farther extended."

Mr. Hughes's letter will have already reminded our friends of the difficulties which exist in the way of the work of education among the Fugitives, owing to the strong feeling which exists against black and white attending the same school. This makes the work of the Mission School specially important. This is in charge of Mr. H. S. Hughes, who reports as follows :—

"I beg to forward a report of the progress of the school during the past quarter. The attendance has not been quite so good as it was during the winter, as a great number of the children have been kept at home to assist their parents in their farm work. The attainments of some of the children in history, geography, grammar, &c., are very fair. A few of them have made considerable progress in the higher branches of arithmetic, and the writing is generally good. Above all, the good seed of the Word of Life is sown amongst them; and their knowledge of Scripture doctrines and history, though not what could be desired, is still creditable. A few take a pleasing interest in the Scripture lessons, and one nice boy, a youth of fifteen, seems to have very serious impressions. Having never been baptized, he has applied to my father for baptism, and is undergoing a course of preparatory instruction. His is a very hopeful and encouraging case, and I trust that he will show by a consistent life that a real work of grace has been begun within him. The irregularity of the attendance of the children, arising mainly from the carelessness of the parents, is the great obstacle we have to contend with."

HISTORY OF A FUGITIVE.

"For the last nine months there has been attending school a young man of whom I must give you a short account. He is a fugitive from Kentucky, and has been in Canada between four and five years. He told me his master treated him kindly, and he would never have come away if his master had not sold him. He and his brother-in-law, who escaped with him, used to manage their master's farm, and, coming to the house one evening from work, they discovered their master in conversation with several strangers. There was a door on each side of the room, and, suspecting what was the matter, they made their escape, one through each door. This young man wandered about the whole night, and next morning found himself in sight of his master's house, having missed his way, and in his confusion lost himself in the bush. He remained in hiding all day, and at night started again, and arrived towards morning at the house of a friend about eighteen miles distant, where he had agreed to meet his fellow fugitive. There he obtained some clothes and a little money, and towards evening they started together, but had not proceeded very far when they heard some men behind them on horseback, whom they knew from their movements to be in pursuit of them. They got over a fence into a field of tall grass, and lay down a short distance from the fence. The men who had seen them jump over the fence came up, and dismounting, got into the field to look for them, and one fired off a gun. They both expected to be discovered and taken back; but fortunately the men did not think of looking so close to the fence, and so missed them. After remaining a short time they resumed their journey, and, as this little incident had taught them the necessity of exercising great caution, they proceeded warily, travelling by night and hiding by day, and eventually arrived safely in Canada at the commencement of winter. They immediately obtained work at chopping cord wood, which is the chief employment of the people around here during the winter months. They have, by industry and perseverance, accumulated a considerable sum of money, with which they intend to purchase a piece of land. For the time the young man has been attending school he has made considerable progress. When he first came he could not read, and, of course, was not able to write. He now reads pretty well, and his writing is very good indeed, and he has advanced as far as compound multiplication in arithmetic. He appears very thankful for what has been done for him, and I have had great pleasure in instructing him.

"Hoping that the blessing of God will accompany the efforts of your agents, and that the seed which they sow may be found after many days," &c., &c.

WINDSOR.—Mr. Hurst's letters give a very full and clear account of the nature of the sphere he occupies, and the work in which he is engaged. They show how thankful he would be for additional help:—

NEGRO SOLDIERS.

"Jan. 5.—A sight which I beheld to-day caused me to think of you, and wonder what my English friends would feel, had they been present. Standing in a hardware store in Detroit, just across the river from Windsor, my attention was attracted by the sound of military music, which, I soon discovered, proceeded from a negro band, at the head of a negro regiment, which has been raised in Detroit. What hath God wrought! A year ago, public feeling against the negro ran so high in Detroit, that their houses were burned by the populace in the open day; and now some of the sufferers are, I am informed, in the very regiment that I saw. The Lord will avenge—nay, is avenging—the cause of the oppressed negro. A few years ago, these sable men fled from slavery, followed by hired hunters, and tracked by blood-hounds, and now they go in concert to break the chains of those who are yet enslaved."

PREACHING TO THE COLOURED PEOPLE.

"My work amongst them remains about the same. They claim to number 800 in Windsor, and I think must be about so many. I preach to good and attentive congregations of them, who seem to drink in the Word as Gospel indeed. A man who sat near to the pulpit, and a stranger to me, seemed quite excited while I was setting forth the sufferings of Christ for sinners, and showing how it proved the love of God. He clapped his hands, and, looking around, said, 'Didn't ye hear dat?' Other signs of emotion continued through the sermon."

SCHOOL WORK.

"I often wish the Society had more to do with the education of the coloured children here. I think it might be managed so as to cost but little, and thus keep them more under the same kind of influence and teaching, also keeping a Sunday-school in good working order. To such a school persons of all ages would come, and much good be done. But nothing can be done without constant supervision, which is more than I can give, having to preach three times nearly every Sunday. We are, thank God, in pretty good health; and, though far from home and friends, upon the whole, happy, hoping and believing that the Lord will bless our labours."

GENERAL VIEW OF THE MISSION.

"Jan. 19.—I know that everything is needed to encourage the friends of the Mission, and hope that no tardiness of mine will hinder the good work. My interest in the welfare of the coloured people does not decrease, and I trust never will, but I am certainly unable to satisfy myself with the amount of progress. It is not a Mission that needs to be despaired of, and I do not see any difficulty arising from the same clergyman ministering to both. Some at one time believed this to be impracticable, and even now the error is not entirely removed; but I have tried it five years, and am quite satisfied that, although feeling runs high between colours, the same white person can, by the exercise of prudence, and by quietly labouring away, discharge his duty to both colours without much prejudice from either. Through the whole of this parish the houses of the coloured are mixed up with those of the whites; they all come under my parochial supervision. I find no difficulty in this; and, indeed, I have evidence that God has blessed this general parochial visiting. My difficulties arise from inability to give sufficient time to preaching and educational matters. Both are far short of what they ought to be. This is, I assure you, a trial and grief to me. I wish to see the whole field before me systematically worked, and at present there is no prospect even of an approach to that. The whites belonging to the Church of England are rapidly increasing; my church will not hold more than a third of them, and the coloured people claim to be 800 in the town, besides a large number scattered through the whole parish, which contains an area of eighty square miles. The feeling between the two races renders it necessary that separate services be held for each, which, as you will readily see, requires double time and strength. In this, however, my conscience does not much accuse me; for I try to perform my weekly parochial duties, and nearly always preach three times on Sunday. The attendance is always good when I preach to them; indeed, they seem to sink all denominational differences, and rejoice together in a free and full salvation through Jesus Christ. It is sometimes irksome, but generally delightful, to labour among them; some are spiritually-minded people, with whom it is pleasant to converse, but others are deplorably ignorant, and worse than ignorant. It grieves me to see so much ignorance and sin, and be unable to reach it. I know the funds placed at the disposal of the Society are too limited to supply the required number of agents; but still, to ensure success, we must be able to put forth constant and systematic efforts. Oh, that the friends of Missions would contribute more freely, and thus come 'to the help of the Lord against the mighty!' I do not think we want more clergymen at present. A clergyman for each race in the same parish will not work; we want catechists of tact, sound doctrine, and deep piety, to keep Sunday-school and service going on in the clergyman's absence, and assist in country services in coloured settlements. No people have more heart for missionary enterprise than the English; and they have the money also, but it would be well to see a little more of it flowing into this one channel."

A SAD STORY.

"I have seen from the English papers that the winter is unusually mild, and that even the flowers were blooming abundantly about Christmas. The very reverse is true of us; our winter is unusually severe. During the first three days of this year, the wind blew almost a gale, with the thermometer 18° and 20° below zero. You may imagine how those who were unprepared for it suffered. Many persons have been frozen to death in the streets, or while driving their teams. In my last I mentioned a coloured family having perished by fire and frost. At the time I wrote, the particulars had not been correctly reported, but now it appears that the mother and two little ones perished by fire; two others, a little older, got out of the burning house, but were frozen on the premises; and the eldest, a girl, in attempting to escape to a neighbour's house, was overtaken by the frost, and perished. When found, she was entirely naked. We need not be surprised at this when horses were frozen to death in the stable."

TOKENS OF A BLESSING.

"March 23.—I am holdiug a weekly service for the coloured people, which, I may say, is attended according to circumstances. This winter it has been unusually fluctuating. At times the weather has been very severe; and, again, epidemic diseases, such as small-pox, scarlet fever, and measles, have prevailed, aud seriously affected all our services. Attendance has varied from 25 to 150. Such hindrances are beyond my control, and therefore I desire and endeavour to do what God enables and permits me to do. The interest which these people take in the preaching of the Gospel has not abated, and I feel sure the blessing of God does in a measure go with the Word. It is delightful to preach the Gospel to those who relish it, and it is not less needful to those who know not the joyful sound.

"We have amongst us some who are inquiring the way heavenward, and some who are evidently on the way. This very day, while passing along the street, a coloured man from the country stopped his cart, and, in the plainest and most childlike manner, asked me some questions as to the right way of approaching the throne of grace. A person so inquiring will be sure to find. I have always felt real pleasure in preaching to the coloured people, and I am persuaded they know this, and accordingly speak to me of spiritual matters with the utmost freedom. Indeed, it is sometimes refreshing and also reproving to myself to sit and listen to the simple and broken account of their faith in Christ. But, in a border town like this, we have abundance of those who are almost as low as human beings can be. Such corrupt many others, and, it is to be feared, draw them into sins of a most revolting kind. Many have gone over to the States and enlisted, for the purpose of obtaining the large bounty; and have then, at the first opportunity, returned with their ill-gotten gains to spend it as wickedly as it was obtained. Perhaps we have here the very scum of this people, and a border town affords special opportunities for such. But all this shows the necessity for more Gospel effort, and for the outpouring of the Spirit on the means already supplied."

SCHOOL WORK.

"It has also been my habit to attend the Coloured School, which, when times are favourable, numbers about 150 in attendance, and there giving religious instruction to all who can read in the Bible. This class has been very successful, and has much delighted the children. I have always found that coloured children are very apt, both at receiving and retaining religious instruction.

"We have at present a great amount of sickness of many kinds amongst us, such as small-pox, scarlet fever, &c., the former chiefly amongst the coloured people. Some have died, and others are so much afraid, that but little will be done in school matters until it has cleared away."

II.—Diocese of Toronto.

TORONTO.—The additional labourer for whom the Committee have looked so long has not yet entered on his work. They are glad, however, to say that they have good hope now that this vacancy will be almost immediately filled up, the Corresponding Committee at Toronto having informed them that a Clergyman there is about to enter on the work. They trust, therefore, that they may soon receive reports again of the mission work in this city.

BARRIE.—The following extracts are from the report of the Rev. E. Morgan, who continues to labour, as in former years, with much discouragement, and yet with marks of God's favour on his work to cheer him :—

"June 30.—A coloured man, whom I visited, gave me a description of his escape from slavery, at the same time assuring me that he fled, not because of ill-treatment, for his owner was, on the whole, kind; but he did not know what change might take place in his affairs, and feared that he and his wife would be separated. He told me that he was for three days and nights without food, except a few ears of Indian corn, which he obtained from the fields at night. When he was fairly beyond the reach of his pursuers, he says, no tongue can describe how thankful he felt to God, through whose mercy he was delivered. He also mentioned that, in a plantation adjoining his master's, the slaves were very much indulged; and, he added, he often pitied them deeply, for their master was an old man. He had but one son, to whom the property would go, and, from the general tenor of his life, he had but little hope that they would enjoy the same kind treatment from him they had received from his father. This man can read a little, having, by perseverance, taught himself, with the help of a friend now and then, and was much pleased with some tracts and a few religious periodicals I gave to him."

PROGRESS OF THE WORK.

"I am happy and thankful to say that, in all parts of my extensive Mission, the work progresses; yet do I most earnestly desire to see fuller and clearer evidences of change of heart, and holy zeal. Over such a wide field, I cannot enjoy the frequent social and pastoral intercourse which is so desirable, but I feel assured the Lord will do His work. As our new country opens up, may the light of Divine truth shine upon the people; and may they prosper and increase with the increase of God! May His blessing attend the efforts of the Society is my earnest prayer.

"I have, during this quarter, travelled by conveyance 948 miles, walked about 163, and visited 275 families; distributed tracts, &c.; besides a Bible-class in each church weekly."

EFFECTS OF SLAVERY.

"Sept. 30.—During the past quarter nothing has occurred in the Mission out of the ordinary course. The work generally progresses favourably. Divine Providence has bountifully blessed us with a good harvest, and a favourable season for its ingathering, in which the coloured population have shared in common with others, so far as their diligence and industry gave them any warrant to expect plenty, though the cases are few in which we have evidence of either diligence or industry, care or forethought among them. There is rather, I am sorry to say, proof of an opposite state of things in the appearance of their lots of land and buildings. Doubtless, great allowance must be made for previous habits, formed in youth and during slavery; and until they will allow themselves to be influenced by that class which many of them think are disposed to keep them down, rather than help them to rise in the scale of society, things will continue in this unfavourable state; and so strong is the impression among them that white persons are averse to their temporal prosperity, they are unwilling to listen to their suggestions. It will take time, and great caution will be necessary on the part of those persons who desire to improve their condition, both in temporal and spiritual matters, in order to the accomplishment of so desirable an end."

SOWING THE SEED.

"Dec. 31.—I continue to distribute tracts among them, and endeavour to impress on their minds how very little advantage their bodily freedom will be to them unless they are the Lord's freemen, and enjoy that liberty wherewith Christ makes His people free. The poor blind old man of whom I have spoken in former reports is now very ill, and, I think, is fast drawing to the close of his earthly pilgrimage. It is quite delightful to converse with him, so earnest, so fervent are his expressions of love and gratitude, so totally weaned is he from the world, and looking forward happily to the time when he shall enter into his rest.

"We have had much more than ordinary sickness in our neighbourhood, and many sudden deaths. Thus does the Lord speak to us in His Providence, arousing the careless and unconcerned, and the worldly-minded, to the important truth that here we have no abiding city. The good work progresses with us in a little measure; would that it did so tenfold more! The harvest is indeed plenteous, but the labourers are few. Few seem willing to engage in the work of preaching the Gospel. May the Lord increase the number, and stir up the hearts of our youth to devote themselves to the work of the ministry!"

REJOICING IN THE FRUIT.

"March 31, 1864.—The people in the coloured settlement are going on much as usual. I can see no marks of general improvement. There are some individual cases where more than ordinary energy is shown; these are doing well, in a temporal point of view, and, as far as I can judge, their spiritual condition is good; but these cases are few. The old man of whom I have made previous mention, as being evidently under the influence of Divine grace, has gone to his rest. He died rejoicing in the Lord, having suffered a good deal of pain, but never murmured, and always seemed quite happy. Many of the coloured people attended his funeral, and so did a few white persons, as he was very much respected. I preached from Luke ii. 29, 30. Truly his end was peace; for though the eyes of his body were blind, the eyes of his mind were opened to see the wonders of redeeming love—he saw the Sun of Righteousness; and often, to those who visited him, he would give a word of godly comfort and counsel, and, with meekness and fear, would give the reason of the hope which sustained and cheered him.

"I have at present under my care a case in which the Lord has been pleased to sanctify affliction to the salvation of the sufferer—a young man, well educated, and who might have been well off in this world's goods, and anything but ignorant of the importance of religion, but he unfortunately wasted his substance, like the young prodigal, and has been in want. God has thrown him on a bed of sickness, with a sore disease, which will soon terminate his life. His sufferings, at times, are most acute, but he bears them most patiently, and thanks God most heartily that He did not cut him down in his sins. In speaking to him, a few nights ago, on the subject of his death, he said, 'I don't fear death. It is good for me that I was afflicted. I would not relinquish the hope I now enjoy for the possession of the world.' Every such instance of a soul rescued from sin's vile slavery is a cause for gratitude. Would that they were more frequent!"

CONCLUSION.

The Committee feel sure that the extracts from their correspondence given above will have fully borne out the statement with which they commenced their Report—that there is every reason why the work of the Mission should be sustained, and, if possible, extended.

The cloud which shrouds the future of America is not yet dispersed; the war still rages, and few are bold enough to predict when or what the final settlement will be; still less can it be foreseen what will be the ultimate result to the African race, and specially to that portion of them now resident in Canada. One thing is clear, that at present all that we hear urges us to maintain our ground. Appeals for fresh help have been continually received during the past year, to which the Committee would gladly have responded could they have felt that their present financial position justified them in doing so. They conclude, therefore, by once more calling attention to the words of Mr. Hughes, taken from one of the letters given above :—

"The future rests with Him who can bring good out of evil, and make even the wrath of man to praise Him. One thing, however, is clear, there never was a time when these down-trodden people stood more in need of the sympathies, the prayers, and the active exertions of their friends, than the present."

P.S.—The following extracts from the report of the two students of Huron College, mentioned on page 9, though, strictly speaking, received too late for insertion in the present Report, are given in a Postscript, as it is felt that they will interest the friends of the Society, showing them the spirit in which these fresh labourers have entered on their work :—

"On the 1st of May we were appointed by the Lord Bishop of Huron to labour among the coloured people in London, in connexion with the Colonial and Continental Church Society.

"May 4.—This afternoon we commenced our visits to the coloured people of London. Being almost strangers, we were ignorant of the location of any of their residences. After passing through the city, we fell in with two females, and, after the usual salutation, we remarked that we were going to visit their people, and would now with pleasure go with them. They, however, misapprehended the object of our visit, and, at the same time, were not a little annoyed at our dress, the academic dress being quite a new thing. The younger, the daughter of the elder, left us as we passed the house in which she was a servant, but we went on with her mother. Instead of taking us to her house, she went into a neighbour's. When we entered, Mrs. ——, who was our escort, introduced us to the family: 'Here are two gentlemen who want to see you; I don't know who they are; I met them up town.' We were then invited to take a seat; and, after a little conversation, gave them some tracts, and then said, if it would not disturb them too much, we would like to read some Scripture, and pray with them, to which they gladly assented. It was astonishing the change that these words made in them. They heartily apologized for their former indifference, and brought us into their little sitting-room, where we read and prayed with them, and told them of the love of Jesus to perishing sinners, and that He is 'the way, the truth, and the life.' They were very much pleased with our visit, and wished that we would soon return.

"We next visited Mrs. ——, who had quite overcome her first surprise. She is a fugitive, and in three days after her escape she reached Canada, a land of freedom. We also read, prayed, and left some tracts with her. She has suffered much trouble, and the assistance we were enabled to give her in her spiritual pursuit seemed to be a great consolation.

"I may here remark that we both go together until we become acquainted with their various residences, and after that we will go separately to visit them.

"6*th*.—Mrs. S—— is a very pious woman, and although about sixty years of age, yet within the last few years she has learned to read the New Testament, in order that she might thereby learn to know more of the will of her Divine Saviour. She was eight days escaping from slavery, lying in the swamps by day, and walking by night. The horrors of mind which she endured lest she should be seized and taken back to slavery, are more easily imagined than described.

"Mr. G——, is an eminently devout and pious member of the Methodist body. He was a slave, and made his escape in the following manner. His old master died, and the young one, with whom G—— was a favourite, having become involved in debt, was forced to sell all his slaves, among whom was G——; and, having received the money, he gave G—— part of his price, and sent him away two days before he was to be delivered up to his new master. By this means, though with great difficulty, he succeeded in reaching Canada, the land of the free.

"13*th*.—We visited the House of Refuge. In it there were six inmates, women and children. Two of the women are very aged, both earnestly seeking spiritual comfort. One of them had never tasted the sweets of the new and spiritual life; the other was weak in faith. We read and prayed with them, encouraging them to look, through faith, to the accomplished work of our blessed Redeemer. We are happy to say that upon our return, in a week afterwards, we found them much improved. With one, her faith was increased; the other, who before was in darkness, was brought, through the blessing of God, to a sense of her situation. She had formerly trusted too much in her own merits, but was now aware that there was no way by which she should be saved but through the precious blood of Christ.

"June 9.—Mr. ——. The parents were not at home. The mother is a Methodist, and atteuds church with her children, and alse sends them to Sunday-school, but the father is a Roman Catholic, and attends no church, although he frequently promises to do so; yet, when the time comes, he refuses. We prayed with the children that God would change his heart, and reclaim him from the error of his ways. We encouraged them to pray for it continually, and that Jesus would most assuredly hear them if they prayed in faith, which they promised to do.

"13*th*.—Mr. H——. Both he and his wife escaped from slavery; she with her infant child in her arms. Yet she met with no trouble, as the friends of freedom assisted her on her way. She was two or three years in Canada before she could realize the fact that she would not be taken back again.

"We have visited thirty-seven coloured families, containing 162 souls. We have frequently visited those families since the dates opposite to their names, knowing that as we have freely received so should we also freely give. And we hope and pray that our feeble efforts among them in behalf of our dear Redeemer, may be blest to the salvatiou of their souls. Wherever we go to visit we always read and pray with them, and point them to Jesus as the only place of refuge for the sinner.

"On the 12th June I visited their Sunday-school in the 'Hollow.' There were about forty present. All were very cleanly dressed, and seemed very attentive; indeed, their attention might cause some of our white children to blush. The teachers gave me a hearty welcome, and invited me to encourage the children, which also I was very happy to do.

"We visit the House of Refuge every Friday; and we read and pray with them on every visit. They all seem very anxious to know the way of salvation, and we hope and trust that, through the blessing of our heavenly Father upon our feeble efforts, and by the regenerating influence of His Holy Spirit, they may all be brought into the fold of Jesus, and know the love of God which passeth knowledge."
